'The Great App Depot'

I want to make a one pager (could possibly be multi-paged but we'll see) in the style of an infographic. The website will be a flat design. On the site the user will see different statistics of 2015's most popular apps. I would also like to include a section introducing the user to new apps they may not have heard of but might like (may be a chart or something).

Here is some style inspiration:
